TERRIBLE LOSS OF LIFE.

ONE HUNDRED AND SEVENTY-FIVE PEOPLE DROWNED.

Johnston's Bayou and Sabine Pass Almost Entirely Destroyed by Flood—Recovering

Scenes in the Stricken Towns—Recovering the Dead Bodies—Death Roll.

New Orleans, La., Oct. 15.—The population of Johnston's Bayou last Tuesday morning numbered 1,300 souls. Today eighty-five of that number are counted with the dead.

Forty of their bodies have been recovered and consigned to graves in shell reefs, while the decomposing bodies of the remaining forty-five lie floating in the marshes.

Halfway were very thickly settled and populous. It boasted its cotton gins and cotton and cane plantations. It was the head of navigation, and the stores were many.

Principally among these were those run by J. J. Fawcett, who operated a gin and turned out annually 800 bales of cotton produced in that section. The other stores were owned by A. B. Smith & Co. and J. G. Smith, general merchants, and other small merchants constitute the commercial community.

The handling of cotton and sugar was done by the shipping companies and the oil industry. These ridges encompassed some of the richest and most fertile ground in the country, 8,000 head of cattle and horses being owned by the thriving community.

The death roll is made up as follows: Mrs.

Frank Turner and two children; Locke, and Mrs. J. J. Fawcett and her children;

Mrs. W. Ferguson and three children; Bradford Berry and daughter; Mrs. Albert Lambert and two children; Russell Burwick's eight children; Mrs. Rind Walters and four children; George Stinner and four children;

Mrs. Franklin wife and grandson; Mrs. S.

Gallier and four children; Landon Smith and child; Mrs. Toole and her children; Jack Toole and seven children; Mrs. Hawkins and three children; Dr. George Smith, wife and four children. All the above were white people.

The following dispatch was received from Beaumont: The train which went toward Saville, as far as the track allowed, returned here at 5 p. m. Fifteen bodies were recovered on the highlands called Black Ridge, west of Sabine, and were buried. Six bodies of women were recovered on the west shore of the lake, two colored and four white, one being that of Mrs. W. A. Junker, of Carlisle.

Mrs. Junker is still missing.

The steamer Emily F. returned from Johnston's Bayou, La., to Orange, and reports that those drowned at that place were chiefly colored people. The deaths at Sabine Pass and vicinity will aggregate more than ninety.

At Johnston's Bayou, about eighty-five.

Only three houses were left for human habitation, though perhaps a dozen are standing in a precarious condition. The people who escaped with their lives are completely starved, and are unable to do anything but be able to provide for themselves with the bare necessities of life.

A WOMAN FOUND DEAD.

Mrs. Blum, of Coal City, Dies Under Very

Mysterious Circumstances.

NORTH BEND, O., Oct. 15.—Last night at 7 o'clock word was conveyed to "Quinn" Matson, of the track along a woman had died near Coal City under circumstances that indicated foul play. Accompanied by Dr. J.

Dillon, he went to the place where the body of the woman was found. She was found in the house where the body lay. She was found by the name of a shoemaker by the name of Blum, living upon McDonald's farm.

The floor and windows of the house had been taken away and nothing but curtains hung up in their place. Blum is about thirty years of age and has a young son. She was a married woman, and was a regular features and dark hair.

By aid of an interpreter the "quinn" questioned Blum about the death. He then viewed the body and found it black and blue in a number of places. She died at o'clock yesterday, and Blum accounted for the death by saying that she was alone last Friday at Delhi she had fallen out of bed and a part of the way down the stairs. From one of the windows about the time of the death it was learned that it was their opinion that the woman had been beaten.

On the deceased stated that her husband was good to her. No one else was in the house when she was found, and he appears to be innocent. The "quinn" thought best under the circumstances, to hold an inquest, and set it for trial at 2 o'clock.

A Murder Suspected.

BROWNVILLE, Tex., Oct. 15.—Henry

Turner, son of a prominent stock man at Toledo, came in and gave himself up as the murderer of Theodore Barrows, whom he says he killed in self-defense. A dispatch from Santa Maria says Barrows died Thursday at 10 o'clock. Before dying he made a declaration in which he said he was from his field upon the main road about 4 o'clock in the afternoon, and when near the corner of the field Turner was lying in wait for him.

Henry Turner, who stood in the open road, and was then shot and wounded in the left breast by two men concealed in the brush. As the Turner was lying in wait for him, he was shot in the left thigh, and then in the right arm, as a woman came up, the three Barrows walked a quarter of a mile to the house of Fowler, at 212 Vine street, where he fell. He was armed with a Winchester but did not fire a shot. Barrows was killed last year, and Barrows was the principal witness against him.

A Night in a Sewer.

TEPPER, O., Oct. 15.—William Elmer, a prominent Bloomfield man, was found this morning in a perilous condition at the mouth of Fowler, at 212 Vine street, where he was found. He had fallen into a drain at night into a vault fifteen feet deep, constructed with the sewer, and crawled on his hands and knees until he was found, covered with filth and badly bruised.

Fire in Pittsburg.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 15.—At 11:15 o'clock in the morning the flames still belonging to the burning of the "Pittsburg" street together with valuable machinery and a quantity of finished lumber, was completely destroyed by fire, of unknown origin. Loss $25,000, partial insurance.

COAL CARRYING RAILROADS.

Suits to Be Brought Against the Pennsylvania Coal Combination.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 15.—Ever since Governor Pattison addressed his open letter to Attorney General Cassidy, denouncing the combination of coal-carrying railroads and the trunk line, as opposed to the construction and status of Pennsylvania, railroad managements have been wondering what the state administration was going to do about it. The governor has been in Philadelphia all the week, and has been in consultation with the attorney general. It is now understood that Mr. Cassidy has determined to bring suits against the corporations comprising the coal combination and the trunk line pool next week. The suits would have been brought several days ago, had not some occupancy evidence relating to the trunk line been wanting. This evidence is now at hand.

The suits are to be brought at Harrisburg, in the Dauphin county court of common pleas, and will be in the nature of either a writ of quo warranto or an injunction.

The suits are to be brought with as little speed. It is the wish of the governor to bring them to an end before the expiration of his term of office. To this end, the commonwealth will exercise its privilege of having them put at the head of the list, and delay will be fought in every way. Mr. Cassidy hopes to finish them in sixty days, but the corporations concerned will fight for time, and their first movement will probably be to have the suits removed to the United States circuit court, on account of the many corporations involved, whose charters are

GERMANTOWN FAIR.

Fourth Day a Decided Success—Largest Crowds of Any—Splendid Exhibition and a Good Time Generally—Premium List—Notes and Personal.

After the rain and storm of Wednesday, Saturday had been looked forward to as the great day of all, and so it was. The morning dawned clear, cool and beautiful. At an early hour, the grounds presented a scene of bustle and confusion and "coming events cast their shadows before." The band was early in their places, and the splendid "Orpheo March," rendered in their happiest style, was loudly applauded. By noon every seat in the amphitheater was filled, the "court-galler" was crowded, and the promenade was completely packed. The day continued cool throughout and overcoats and wrappings were worn most of the day. The dining hall had a great rush, and closed its doors early in the afternoon, unable to feed many who clamored at the entrance. But the bountiful dinners on the ground, spread by the generous people of Mason and Bracken, were all sufficient, and no one went away hungry.

The rings in the afternoon were fine and much interest was manifested, especially in the boy's riding match. Everything was orderly, not a single arrest during the fair. The attendance in the afternoon was fully up to that of any day during the fair's history, and is variously estimated at from seven to eight thousand. At 4 o'clock, Hauck's band formed in double file in the arena, each gracefully received a blue ribbon from Director W. F. Snoot, marched around the ring to the music of "Amicitia," formed a circle around the President and Directors, President Forman delivered a neat and appropriate speech, the inimitable "Dixie" rang out and floated away in the distance and the Germantown Fair was over. May time send another such a fair, and send us there to see it. Following is a list of premiums awarded Saturday:

Your representative on the matter for the day touching the matter. All the social and all about decorating the church, around the bridal jewels, and wearing orange blossoms.

Miss Myrtle May's letters from across the sea to her friends at home have been much admired for their accuracy of detail, ease and grace of composition. Her modesty is equal to her merit—she positively forbids their publication.

Dr. Law will has married a lady of much culture and refinement, and we tender our best wishes for their future happiness. They on a three week's bridal tour out west and will then return to his pleasant home to test the mysteries of house-keeping.

Proctor of this vicinity, on Tuesday last, and at the present writing Friday he is sitting up and cheerfully entertaining the numerous friends that call. Dr. Kavanagh Adams used the knife assisted by Dr. James MacIntosh, of your city, and L. H. Browning, of this city. The operation was neatly and skillfully done.

A Rich "Clean Up" in Prospect.
Frequent and heavy fines, inflicted upon those who violate the regulation prohibiting by-law mining, has resulted in the virtual closing of this business. One effect of this is the noticeable cleanliness of the Feather, American, Yula and Sacramento rivers, which used to be so muddy.

For twenty-five years these rivers haven't been so clear as during this season. For several years work has been carried on in the big tunnel intended to divert the waters of the Feather river, so that the bed of the river could be worked for gold. Recently water was turned in, but it was found that the tunnel was not large enough to carry all the water of the river. It will take several months to enlarge the tunnel, but when this is done there is no doubt that a rich "clean up" will be made.—New York Tribune.

He Wouldn't Apologize.
That striking but erratic genius of the British and American stage, George Fredrick Cooke, was his own worst enemy, and killed himself at last with his cups, which he had used to his own ruin. Once, at Liverpool, after a shameful exhibition of himself on the stage, he was brought to his senses by the audience, who demanded an apology on the spot. Cooke drew himself up with great dignity, and replied: "Apology from George Fredrick Cooke! Taken from this room, there is not a brick in your infernal town which is not cemented by the blood of a slave!"
